

O'CONNOR IS IN FORM

Holds Rock Hill Tribe to Three Weak Bingles.

HINCHMAN IS VERY WILD

Visiting Star Artist Sends Nine Hiltoppers to First by Base on Balls. Sittering, Murphy, and Gibson Team Bases at Will-Elliott City. Team Plays Poor Ball.

By N. T. WORLEY.

Georgetown's husky braves made it four straight by trimming Rock Hill at Georgetown Field yesterday afternoon. The score piled up by the Hiltoppers being reminiscent of some of the games of the Blue and Gray dropped earlier in the year. Score—Georgetown, 11; Rock Hill, 3.

"Wahby" O'Connor, who held the visiting contingent in the cellar for nine innings yesterday, must go the credit for the result of the battle. "Wah" held Rock Hill to three measly, peckish bingles without a bluish, and showed a deal that was worthy in making the Elliott tribe bend their backs and whiff almost everything, but hit nothing behind their sticky twirler the Hiltoppers played a good game and hit the ball hard and often.

Both of the pitchers proved too general with their passes to first. Hinchman, the most kind in this respect, giving nine of the home squad fly riding down the first base line. O'Connor, the five bases on balls, but he was ineffective in tight places and only two of these were converted into runs.

In the first inning Georgetown got two on bases, with only one down, but Hinchman fanned the next two batters, and they did not score. This was about the only thing of note the visiting box did accomplished, and he kept getting worse and worse until the grand up-aval in the eighth, when the Blue and gray shook him nearly into a fit and used home three scores to top off their drive victory.

Safe Drives Plentiful.

Very Georgetown man, but Connolly C. O'Connor, made a hit off the Rock pitcher, and Capt. Murphy made two, single and a split, burning double. The others excelled, or, to be exact, out-evaded their opponents on the bases, since being registered against Catcher Wahby. Sittering was the "speed boy" the day, stealing three bases, and Murphy and Gibson were next in rank with two steals to their credit. Zachary, all kinds of trouble stopping the ball in Hinchman located the plate, four out balls and a wild pitch against the battery establishing a new record for games on the West Side diamond this year.

The visitors made a double play in the third, when Cogan hit to Hinchman and he threw to Dunn, catching Connolly at second and nipping Cogan at first by teasing the leather over to the initial sack.

The two star plays of the game were both made by the home boys. In the fifth Peenan ran almost to the edge of the grand stand and caught a difficult foul fly off St. Hinchman's bat, while in the sixth, with three on bases, Cogan made a brilliant stop and threw to first of Clement's wall to his territory.

Rock Hill, compared with Georgetown, looked weak in every department, and were clearly outclassed after the first couple of rounds.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Four wins in a row makes one feel like whooping it up a bit.

Now for the games away from home. The Hiltoppers will meet Columbia at New York Saturday, and will not play here again until May 11. Coach King is confident that his team will give a good account of itself when it lines up against the Gotham nine. Balzer will work if he is in form.

With a man on first and one on third the sixth Hinchman made a balk to rest. Balzer allowed the runner on third score and the man at first to move up peg. This threw the visitors into a state of mental excitement bordering on hysteria, and they registered a strenuous protest, but Balzer was firm.

Most of the close decisions went to the home team for a change.

When Connolly was hit on the head in the fifth the clash of the ball against his hip sounded like the pop of a cork from a bottle of Budweiser.

Hunt sacrificed the first and second times he went to bat.

Clements went from first to third on Hayden's weak roller to "Wah" O'Connor in the fifth.

Peenan would have caught Clements' foul in the fifth, but the batter cleverly blocked the Georgetown catcher and spoiled the play.

In the third Hayden, the first man up in the inning, hit a Texas leaguer to left field, which Connolly could not reach in time to catch the sphere, and the throw put him on second. He failed to touch first base on his journey around the sacks, however, and the eagle-eyed "ump" called him out when the ball was relayed to catcher and Capt. Murphy made two, single and a split, burning double. The others excelled, or, to be exact, out-evaded their opponents on the bases, since being registered against Catcher Wahby. Sittering was the "speed boy" the day, stealing three bases, and Murphy and Gibson were next in rank with two steals to their credit. Zachary, all kinds of trouble stopping the ball in Hinchman located the plate, four out balls and a wild pitch against the battery establishing a new record for games on the West Side diamond this year.

When the Rock Hill catcher threw one wild to third base, Gibson, who was on the coaching line, drew a laugh by singing out "Throw it away; that's right, throw it away; good night, good luck."

Bentley handled Murphy's poke to third base too fast for Sittering and he was nabbed trying to score from third.

Georgetown fell down on what looked like a certain double play in the seventh. Bentley popped to "Wah" O'Connor when he attempted to sacrifice, and O'Connor threw to his namesake at first, but "Morry" dropped the ball.

When Peenan threw to third to catch Hayden off that bag he hit him in the back with the ball.

Hunt and Gibson became confused in the sixth on a short fly over second which fell safe because these two fielders did the oft-repeated and most always fatal Alphonse and Gaston act. Hunt threw home, and would have nipped Dunn at the plate, but the Rock Hill captain slid home with spikes first, and Peenan, refusing to take a chance at safety, injured him when the game was safely Georgetown's, dropped the ball.

While Waldron and Flannery were warming up back of the Georgetown players' bench, about the sixth inning, one of Flannery's wild shoots hit a small urchin in the mouth on the first bound and knocked out a tooth. The injured fellow, evidently, was immediately treated by the well-known specialists, Wymard and Balzer. After several buckets of water had been used in a generous and effective way, the injured one departed, still emitting an occasional grunt, and with one hand tenderly fingering his jaw.

MISHAP AT PINLICO

David Dunlop's Colt, Master John, Breaks Back.

REARS UP AT THE BARRIER

Accident Causes Severe Jolt to Players, He Being the Favorite—Bets Not Declared Off, According to Jockey Club Rules—Stranger Wins Nursery Event by Four Lengths.

Baltimore, May 4.—The racing career of Master John, a highly valued two-year-old, owned by David Dunlop, of Virginia, came to an untimely end this afternoon as the field of ten lined up for the start in the Pinlico Nursery Stakes at Pinlico, Rearing at the barrier when Starter Dade was extending his best efforts to get the youngsters off with an even break, Master John fell backward, breaking his back, and later had to be killed.

The accident was a severe shock to the players of the colt, that was installed as the favorite to take the rich event. Jockey Palms was fortunate enough to slip out of the saddle before Master John fell, for had he stuck to the horse it would have been certain death.

Those unfamiliar with the rules of the Jockey Club were of the opinion that bets should have been declared off on the race, but as the field had left the paddock and was in the hands of the starter, the stewards could not reverse the rule established by the governing body, and the betting stood, though Master John was stretched out on the turf when the barrier was sprung.

The accident caused considerable delay in the starting of the race, and by Master John out of it Stinger, owned by C. C. Smithson, of Washington, finished in the front by four lengths. Only four days ago his owner refused $5,000 for Master John.

The biggest upset that has been in evidence here was furnished in the fifth race, in which the favorite, Daughter, quoted at 60 to 1, won handily. The long shot ran unbacked. A ton of money was lost on San Lewis.
